A New Chapter in Technical Rescue: Join MATRS's Journey Forward

The Massachusetts Association of Technical Rescue Specialists (MATRS) is embarking on a new chapter with a newly elected board of directors. As we gear up for an exciting year, we're thrilled to invite you to our kickoff event at the Dudley Gendron Post in Dudley, MA on April 6th. This event marks the beginning of a series of initiatives aimed at enhancing the technical rescue capabilities within New England.

Event Details: Join us for an evening of camaraderie, great food and networking featuring guest speaker Brett Fortin from OSHA offering valuable lessons learned from a career of safety analysis.

Date & Time: April 6th, starting at 12pm and running into dinner.

Location: Dudley Gendron Post, 156 Boston Rd, Sutton, MA.

MATRS is dedicated to coordinating and supporting the development of technical rescue services in Massachusetts. Our mission is to provide a platform for knowledge exchange, collaboration, and the advancement of technical rescue operations. Through workshops, training sessions, and vendor events, we aim to enhance the skills and capabilities of our members and the broader rescue community.

Looking ahead, MATRS is planning an array of hands-on workshops, comprehensive training sessions, and engaging vendor events. These activities are not just about skill development; they're about building a strong, supportive community of technical rescue professionals. Whether you're a past, present, or future member, your involvement is crucial to our collective success.

We're excited about the future and can't wait to see you at the kickoff event. Together, we'll make a positive impact on technical rescue operations across New England.
